

Lyrics

House of Shards

In this life I have been through too much
I keep finding fragments that don't match, memories, pieces that can't be attached, glued, assembled, connected with such randomness... I feel out of touch.

No way to assemble
No way to construct
I cannot be joined
I have no contact

It's so hard to remember, to accept and smile,
Like you can't restore the window from it's shards.
Lost in a maze of unbeknown parts,
Where is the exit? Too many guards.
Wish me take flight at least for a while,

No, not into death,
But just in the dawn,
In beautiful morning,
No loss or forlorn.

In radiant wisdom,
In lustrous sea...
My song will be simple:
"I'm free. Can you see?"
